

Abstract

A hydraulic support element (1) is proposed for a valve train of an internal combustion engine. This has a hollow cylindrical housing (2), in the bore (3) of which there is a pressure piston (4) made from synthetic material reinforced with glass fibers or carbon fibers.

Figure 1